Subject: FW: Thanks for your time today

Good evening Lisa,

I had a nice chat yesterday with Chris Pameroy. He suggested I reach out to you with a quick note here to give you a little background on me, in case you end up needing candidates for the board position KSUN.

My wife, Michelle, lived in Hailey for 14 years before moving to Hood River, Oregon in 1999 when we met. We have owned a home in Ketchum for 16 years now, traveling here frequently for business and fun. We are both pilots and owners of a Piper JetPROP. I have nearly 3,000 hours as PIC.

I have served on a variety of boards in Oregon over the years and locally, I have served as a pro 13 of the last 15 years in the annual SVSEF Bill Janss fundraiser.

I have flown in and out of this terrific airport dozens of times over the last 15+ years. It would be an honor to be of service if you need me.

Principal Consultant

Craig Sabina is a Principal Consultant with McDermott & Bull, based in the Pacific Northwest. In addition to co-chairing the firm's Aviation & Aerospace Practice with Managing Director, Rod McDermott, he leads the firm's Sporting Goods & Outdoor Industry and Data Center Industry practices.

Craig is a long-time entrepreneur, first with two partners in the publishing business, and for the last 20+ years, as CEO and owner of Summit Projects, a digital marketing and product design concern. Craig has hired literally hundreds of employees and contractors ranging from COO-level team members (he likes to take a little credit for helping hire Outside Magazine's longtime Publisher, Scott Parmalee) to specialized contract vendors. He understands intimately the craft of building and running a business, having generated more than $60,000,000 in sales over the last two decades leading Summit. Through his work with half a dozen Nike divisions, Xerox, Columbia Sportswear, Swiss Army Brands, Camelbak, Chaco, Smartwool, AOL/Times Mirror, Norwegian Cruise Lines, Oregon Health Sciences University, Bandon Dunes, Honeywell Aerospace, Bendix King and dozens more, Craig brings deep experience helping companies achieve complex objectives in rapidly evolving business environments. While Summit was particularly well-known for producing exceptional digital brand experiences, what has always inspired him, above all else, has been building and helping others build exceptional high-performance teams.

Craig is an IFR-rated private pilot with nearly 3,000 hours and 15+ years' experience in "the left seat." He owns and operates a Piper JetPROP, flying it extensively throughout North America for business and pleasure. His aviation experience has been invaluable in his work for AOPA, Honeywell Aerospace, Bendix King and other aviation & aerospace clients.

He is intimately familiar with the Data Center world, both as a customer and an industry partner. With colleagues in the Data Center Industry, Craig serves as head of special projects on the board of the Oregon and SW Washington Chapter of Global Data Center Industry Association, 7x24 Exchange. Working with the State of Oregon, FEMA, NORAD/NORTHCOM and other Emergency Preparedness leaders, he and fellow 7x24 Board members are leading a major initiative to engage private sector leaders in a regional and, soon, national effort to better prepare us all for significant emergencies. Over the years, Craig has supported and/or served on the Boards of The Next Door (20 years), The Portland Schools Foundation, The Z-man Scholarship Foundation (6 years), 7x24 Exchange of Oregon & SW Washington, Angel Flight and many others.

Craig attended the University of Colorado, earning a degree in business while simultaneously competing as a Mogul Specialist on the US Freestyle Ski Team, where he earned the number one US and number five World ranking in 1980. In 1979, he had the honor and privilege to serve as one of two US delegates, gathering in London with fellow representatives from around the world, to write the first FIS rule book for Freestyle Skiing — paving the way for the sport to become an Olympic event in the decade to come. His education and athletic experience ultimately led him to become an avid outdoor sports enthusiast and helped start his decades-long work in the Outdoor and Sporting Goods industry; first as talent for Nike's early ACG brand (Warren Miller Film, Snow Wonder), then as head of Outside Magazine's New York office, and ultimately as Owner and CEO at Summit Projects.

He is married to Michelle and has four children; Otto, Mabel, Zach and Gus. He still loves to ski, but when he gets a little free time, you'll also find him windsurfing, kiteboarding, mountain and road biking, hiking and camping, playing tennis, picking guitar and flying his JetPROP whenever he can.

RE: Available Position on Airport Authority Board

To Whom It May Concern:

I am interested in being considered for the position on the Friedman Memorial Airport Authority board presently held by Ron Fairfax. I have been residing continuously in the valley since 1975 and was a frequent visitor before that. I remember flying into the Friedman airport in Sun Valley Key planes when I was a teenager. I have been flying since I was a child since my father was a pilot and I started flying as a student when I was about 15. I had a tie-down at Friedman for my first airplane and later owned a hanger at the airport. I now have a hangar in Picabo and am on the board of the Silver Creek Grassway Hangars Association, an HOA for the hanger owners. I have been practicing law in Idaho since I graduated from law school focusing primarily on family law and criminal defense. I am a member of AOPA, the IAA, and several other aviation associations and stay abreast of aviation issues. I am a member of the Blaine County Pilots Association as well.

I reside in north eastern Old Hailey directly under the approach path for 13. Please consider me for the board position ending in December of this year. Should you have any questions, please feel free to telephone.

Sincerely,

Michael J. Kraynick
